IT'S ALL SORTED!

Woodside's supersonic sorting at St Vincent de Paul

Packed with enthusiasm, energy and a good sense of fun, Woodside's C&P Logistics team set the bar high for one huge day volunteering at one of Australia's most iconic charities.

Not-for-profit organisation St Vincent de Paul works hard to combat social injustice in Australia, assisting people in need with emergency relief support, as well as providing a well-priced quality shopping alternative to the wider community.

Across its 50 shops in Western Australia, Vinnies offers clothing, books, manchester and bric-a-brac, collected and redistributed through its second-hand good collection points both locally and internationally.

Your day in one word...

What positive outcomes did you experience?

- An appreciation of the amount of labour involved
- Understanding of community needs
- Teamwork!
- Volunteering time to assist

These goods - which might have otherwise entered landfill - instead are sent to (and purchased by, if from international locations) Vinnies, where it undergoes sorting at their Canning Vale warehouse.

This was the task given to C&P Logistics on their team volunteering day on 17 June.

The team sorted and bagged several tonnes of clothing, and had a great time while they were at it! They also had fun in a photo shoot with the ultra-cool cat jumpers they found in the mix!

What a great day volunteering with a motivated and hardworking team. Your efforts have helped people clothe themselves and their family at a significantly more affordable cost than through traditional retail channels, and also helped reduce clothing waste that might have otherwise entered landfill. Phenomenal work!
